Commitment to Turf NSW

When joining the Turf NSW Board, members are asked to consider what they can contribute to the Association and how they can best serve its members. A board position is held by the individual and not by their employer or company.

The primary responsibility of every Turf NSW Board Member is to act in the best interests of the Association and its members, always upholding its aims and objectives. Board Members are expected to:

- Contribute ideas that foster growth and innovation.
- Participate actively in discussions and decision-making.
- Board meetings, while conducted with necessary formality, should also encourage open and constructive discussions.
